FOREIGN NEWS.

From the New-York Mercantile Advertiser, Aug. 12.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

Late and Interesting Foreign News.—The ship Telegraph arrived at Boston on Friday last from Liverpool, with London papers to the 5th of July, and Paris dates to the 2d. Lord Wellington very unexpectedly arrived at London on the 1st of July. The cause of his sudden return is not yet disclosed. By the following London paragraphs ,which we copy from the Boston Daily Advertiser of Saturday, it appears, that before his Lordship left Paris, an attempt was made to blow up the house in which he resided, during a splendid entertainment he had given, at which the Bourbon princes were present:

We have room only for the following summary.

Lord Wellington arrived in England July 1, which produced considerable sensation. It was supposed by some that this journey was on account of ill health: but as he travelled remarkably fast, it was generally believed his visit was political.

It is stated that Lord Exmouth is to proceed again immediately to the Mediteranean, to chastise the Algerine and Tunisian pirates. He is to hoist his flag on board the Queen Charlotte. Lord Exmouth was in London.

An attempt was made at Paris, June 30, to blow up or set fire to the Hotel of the Duke of Wellington, during a fete given by him, at which the Bourbon Princes were present. A smoke was perceived issuing from the cellar, which was found to proceed from a lighted rag besmeared with gunpowder, near which were a number of ball cartouches, several pounds of gunpowder, and two barrels of oil. The fire was extinguished before it communicated to the train, and no alarm was given to the company.

The trials for treason continued in France; attempts at imposition by the prisoners were made, but without producing any other effect than a temporary suspension of their trials.

On the 2d July, Parliament was prorogued to Aug. 24. The Regent, in his speech from the throne on the occasion, thanks them for the interest they have taken in the marriage of his daughter, and the liberal provision they have made for her. Announces that he has given the royal consent to the marriage of the Princess Mary and the duke of Gloucester; and declares that there is a prospect of continuance of the peace so essential to the interest of all nations.

PARIS, JULY 1.

The Russian troops at Nancy have received orders to march to Maubeuge, where the Russians are concentrating their forces. Marshal Suchet and Gen. Colbert, who appeared at court yesterday, are expected to have immediate command. The want of money, however, renders the French levies extremely slow.

By a private letter we learn, that a house has been taken at Toeplitz for the king of of Prussia, and that there is no other foundation for the meeting of the crowned heads but this circumstance.

The lady of General Sir Robert Wilson being dangerously indisposed, we are assured that the General has obtained permission to go to the house in which she resides, on giving his parole of honor that he will not leave the house.

Paris, July 2.

Gen. Marchand has been tried before the first Council of War, and acquitted. A considerable expedition is preparing at Constantinople. It is supposed to be destined against the dey of Algiers who has long disregarded the authority of the Grand Seignior.

Naples, June 16.

Yesterday the Minister of Foreign Affairs it is said, read dispatches from the Prince Regent of England relative to the prompt arming of the embodied troops, and the levying of seamen to man the ships of war, which are preparing to put to sea to cruise against the Barbary pirates.

LONDON, JULY 5.

It is stated that in England, Scotland and Ireland, there are still 6,000,000 of acres of land uncultivated.

Marshal Suchet has been put on active service by the King of France.

Marshal Davoust has received orders to retire to Flavigny.

The Duke of Wellington has come to England to use the Cheltenham waters, on account of the liver complaint.

A writer from Buenos Ayres despairs of the independence of that country from the factions that distract the revolutionists.

Gen. Bonnaire has been degraded from the Legion of Honour, and his aid-de-camp Miettion, executed on the plain of Grennelle. Gen. Gilly had been tried, as contumacious, and sentenced to death.

A dinner was given at Alle Verte on the 18th June, in celebration of the battle of Waterloo, which was uncommonly interesting, from the circumstance of English, Scotish, Prussians, Hanoverian, and Cossacks sitting at the same table, covered with honourable wounds. Near the table, trophies were erected, composed of cuirasses, helmets, muskets, &c. found on the field of battle. At night Brussels was magnificiently illuminated.

Paris, July 1.

The Emperor of Russia has abolished the Vassalage of the peasants of Esthonica. The process commences at once, but is to be gradual as to the complete enfranchisement so as to be perfected in 14 years. An instantaneous entire change of freedom might have bad effects among people in their condition. There are about 100,000 of them.

It is said the Court of Brazil propose to cede its European territories to Spain, in exchange for South American territory.

The Dee frigate is preparing to take Sir Robrt Hall, and suite, to Quebec. He is appointed to command on the Lakes. Captain Lockyer is his captain, and lieutenant Bruce his flag lieutenant.

Cologne, July 12.

STEAM BOAT.

To-day about noon we enjoyed a sight equally novel and entertaining, a pretty large vessel, without a mast, ascending the Rhine, and, proceeding with astonishing rapidity, arrived before this city. All the vessels stationed on the Rhine, in this neighborhood, were in a moment covered with spectators, to see the arrival of this vessel, which is a Steam Boat, coming from London and bound to Frankfort. Every body was eager to view the progress, the motion, and the organization of this master piece of art. This vessel left Rotterdam on the 6th. The passengers affirm that it can go 25 leagues a day. By a rough calculation the invention of Steam Engines saves the English nation a daily profit of 50,000 pounds sterling, by the saving in manual labour.

LONDON, JUNE 22.

A singularly distressing accident happened at the Lochaline lime-works, Argyllshire, on the 24th of May. As some of the workmen were employed in the interior of the kiln, the footing of one of them gave away, when he fell perpendicularly into a cavity formed beneath him, and was instantly closed up to the shoulders with the burning shells. The overseer and his fellow workmen made every exertion to extricate him from his shocking situation, but without effect. With much personal risk, they got a cord passed below his arms, which, in pulling, broke twice! Then, to prevent the body from being consumed, they kept continually pouring water upon him till life was extinct. He endured, with heroic firmness, for upwards of half an hour, the excruciating pain arising from the united tortures of the weight and insupportable heat of a vast quantity of the half burnt stones. He remained, during the period of his suffering, quite collected, and viewed his inevitable fate with the fortitude and resignation of a Christian. With wonderful composure, he bade the people around him an affecting adieu. He continued, while he had life, to pray in the most pitious and fervent ejaculations to the Almighty for himself and his afflicted friends, and breathing his last, recommending his soul to his Creator, and blessing his wife and child. When death had relieved the ill-fated man, the body was soon drawn out, and found to have suffered less external injury than could be expected. The heart-rending scene which followed, when his wife, mother, sisters and brothers, were made acqaainted with his fate, and came to view the lifeless corps of a person so dear to them all, and who parted with them an hour before in good health and spirits, may be conceived, but cannot be described. The name of the unfortunate sufferer was Duncan Macmaster, a young man of sober industrious habits, and of good moral character. He has left an old widowed mother, a wife, and an infant son, not a month old, to deplore his irreparable loss.

FROM THE LONDON GLOBE OF JUNE 17.

ST. HELENA.

Extract of a letter from an officer, brought by the Hannah, which arrived on Saturday from St. Helena, dated,

St. Helena, April 21.

It is truly ridiculous to read the contradictory accounts with which the newspapers are crammed respecting Napoleon, many of which contain gross falsehoods; and one would suppose at first that they had never been written by persons in the island, but rather had been fabricated in London. Such are the stories of his recounting to young ladies (with whose archness and ingenuous candor, particularly the youngest, he certainly was considerably amused,) the history of his campaigns, with all the loquacious vanity of a school boy, describing the hair breadth escapes he had encountered in his first fox chase; when the fact is, that it is a subject which he scarcely ever touches on, and never without having been asked some question concerning them. I have heard from persons who have been as often in his company, when with them, as most people in the island, and have had opportunities of hearing him converse for hours, that they never heard him touch upon that string. In fact, it is of a piece with the Munchausen historian of his breakfast, who modestly states that he drinks a pot of porter and two bottles of claret at that meal, when the fact is, that there are few men more temperate than him in the use of wine. I understand from unquestionable authority, that he never exceeds, during the day, from a pint to perhaps two-thirds of a bottle of light wine, and never has been known to taste malt liquor. The stories about his voracity of appetite are entitled to a similar share of credit. It is certainly ungenerous to vilify a fallen enemy in such a manner, particularly when in your power.

With respect to the external appearance of the rock destined to be his future residence, imagination the most exuberant in the terrible could not picture to itself an abode so dreary and frightful. Stupendous and perpendicular volcanic rocks, without a morsel of vegetation, elevated 2,500 feet above the surface of the ocean, having their summits crowned with rugged and enormous rocks, eternally menacing destruction to the passenger crawling up the zig-zag paths which the hands of slaves have labored to cut in the steep sides of these hideous masses of rock; diversified, certainly, by deep and horridly yawning ravines, whose lava-coloured sides, impart to the terrified beholder a good idea of as many gaping chasms, bursting forth from the internal regions. As you advance into the country, the eye, fatigued with a view of such complication of all that is frightful, contemplates with satisfaction, the less horrible scenes which present themselves, and which (in comparison with the first) even gives a transitory idea of beautiful scenery! Such, in fact, is St. Helena, that the absence of that which is horrible constitutes beauty! If the devil was ever allowed to emerge from the infernal regions, and was afterwards obliged to chose an abode similar to the one he had just quitted, he would certainly fix his paw upon St. Helena, which carries upon its red sides undoubted proofs of having deaived its origin from that element with which his Satanic majesty is supposed to be eternally surrounded; and, excepting the absence of that, I do not know that he would gain much by the change.

Previous to Bonaparte's arrival here, such was the scarcity of fresh meat, that when any of the famished inhabitants wanted a little fresh beef, not then being permitted to kill even their own cattle without leave from the governor (which was not always to be obtained,) it was well known to be customary with them to precipitate some unfortunate bullock, while unsuspectingly grazing on the side of some of the ravines in the interior, down into the gulph below, in order to break some of his bones, and thereby obtain a pretext to cut his throat and partake of his flesh. Since, however, Sir G. Cockburn has arrived men of war have been appointed by him for the purpose of bringing cattle from the Cape. This cruel method of obtaining fresh meat is no longer prevalent, as the restrictions upon slaying bullocks have been taken off. Nevetheless the desired object of supplying the island with a sufficient quantity of fresh beef cannot be attained, as great numbers of the Cape cattle die soon after their arrival. Longwood, where he resides at present, is the only plain in the island: upon it grow numbers of melancholy looking useless trees, called by the natives gum wood, which being all of nearly the same height and shape give to the whole a sombre appearance. This, when connected with the secluded state of the person inhabiting it, separated, as it were from this life, impresses you with an idea of being in an immense charnel house. It is, however, the only spot in the island where a carriage can be driven with horses; for you must know, that previous to our arrival, the only vehicle of the kind in the island was slowly dragged along by bullocks! Plantation house and grounds are an instance of what art can effect in a place denied every thing, but mists, by nature. His limits are now about four miles in extent where he may go without being accompanied by any British officer, and by diligent tacking, like Hawser Trunnion working to church to be married, he may considerably lengthen his ride.

A late Irish paper relates the following melancholy incident:—"On Friday night, a farmer and his wife on their return home from spending the evening with a friend, had occasion to cross a wooden bridge over the Bann, in the parish of Tullish, Ireland. In a neglected part of the bridge there is a hole. The woman, who had a young child folded in her cloak in her arms, did not perceive the dangerous opening. She unfortunately stepped into the hole—but as she descended, she seized with one hand the edge of the broken part of the bridge, whilst with the other she endavoured to save the child. In her struggles, however, she dropped the babe, and finding it gone precipitated herself after it. The husband who had been a little distance from his wife, arrived in time to perceive, but not to prevent the unhappy catastrophe. In hopes to save his wife and child, he plunged into the river, where he found the current of the water so strong as to render his efforts to rescue them unavailing. Finding himself after a long struggle, sinking, he cried aloud for help. Mr. Christie's bleachers came to his aid, but in time to preserve him from drowning: but his wife and child were irrecoverable lost. Their bodies were cast on a bank by the stream, but quite lifeless.

STEAM BOATS.

We are on the eve of one of the great experiments, which has been undertaken during the present age. A Steam boat is about to brave the Atlantic, and cross from N. Y. to Russia. The consequences of this enterprize who will predict? It may open a new æra in the art of navigation, may dispense with the lagging and variable agency of winds and waves. It may bring the two worlds nearer together—it may shorten the passage from 25 to 15 days. A first experiment is every thing, who does not wish its success? If the expedition of the Argonauts gave immortality to Jason; to pass the pillars of Hercules was once esteemed so wondeful a feat of courage; if to cross the Atlantic has given a deathless fame to the name of Columbus;—who will deny some portion of credit to the gallant adventurers who are the first to brave the dangers of the deep with steam? What a source of pride that these men are Americans! We were the first to invent the steam boat—we are the first to ply it to the noblest purposes.

One of the greatest difficulties it has to encounter, is the transportation of fuel. Can they carry enough of it?—But when it is recollected, that by crossing the gulph stream instead of going down it; by tracing the straightest and shortest line to the destined port; to always "keep moving," instead of waiting for the wind, the passage may be shortened, this difficulty may be reduced, if not removed.—Besides, may not coked coal be better than any other fuel? PITTSBURGH.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1816.

A very interesting and a very important Election is close at hand. On the second Tuesday of October next the people of this district will be called upon to decide who is to represent them in the next Congress of the United States. The whole machinery of democracy is already in complete operation. We hope therefore not to be considered obtrusive, if we press upon the notice of the Federal party, the indispensable necessity for early and vigorous measures to counteract the exertions of our political adversaries. We are not of that class of politicians, who think it useless, longer to continue the conflict. Federalism, as a brother editor observes, is founded on the immutable principles of eternal justice; and sooner or later must prevail. Who, then, is prepared to abandon so great and so glorious a cause? a system of politics recommended by the great father of his country, and by every circumstance proved to be the result of patriotism, virtue and good sense. We trust, therefore, that our friends will persevere, remembering, that victory is to be achieved by continuous and unremitted exertions.

The salutary doctrine of rotation in office, appears to be of no importance in the minds of some honest Republicans. They press their favorites continually on the people, and by intrigue and deception, succeed in placing them in office. In this situation they are continued from year to year, notwithstanding their unfitness; and at length, when their vanity and presumption prompt to look for promotion, it is urged as a strong argument in their favor, that they have been in public service for several years, and for their patriotism forsooth, deserve to be rewarded by the people.—This is one reason why many of the highest and most important offices are filled by miserable charlatans, who "Know as much,"

About legislation "as I know of Dutch."

A late London paper announces the arrival at Portsmouth, of the sloop of war Drake, from Jamaica and Havanna, with 300,000 dollars on board for merchants.—She was also the bearer of the following news—A convoy of 3000 mules, laden with specie, had arrived at Vera Cruz from Mexico, after nine months hazardous travelling.——Now, is it not devoutly to be wished that a small portion of this immense quantity of specie may find its way into the vaults of certain Banks in this country, a little previous to the operation of a certain measure embraced in a late communication from the Treasury Department?

[Beacon.

From the Washington City Gazette.

POLITICAL EXPLANATION,

Wherein is shown more of Shrewdness than Learning.

—I lean'd back in my chair and listened. "Sir," cried a little squat made fellow, in a black coat and ragged hat—"Sir, I vote for the Corkus."

"Caucus, you ought to say," observed a pedagogue, who was stuck up in a rush bottomed chair in the corner of the room."

"Teach me to spell, indeed!" retorted the man in black, tossing up his nose, but not quite so high as the Peak of Teneriffe. "Give me leave,' continued he," to tell you, sir, that I have dipped deep into Noah Webster and all them there sort of books—Corkus is the word. It is derived from the Latin—Corcus—Corculus—Corcorus—Corkibus. It means a STOPPER. Thus I decline it—Corkus, We are corked. That's the conjugation of it. Now, when we are corked, we are stopped. If a bottle with liquor in it be corked, can the liquor run out of it until it be uncorked? Certainly not. And if our political sentiments are corked, are they not stopped—and if uncorked, must they not remain in the precise situation in which they were placed by the corking? Certainly they must. Therefor Corkus Corculerem Corkipus—let no man gainsay me, I vote for the Corkus Candidate."

"Upon my word," said the pedagogue, "Mr. Sbodlikins is more versed in learned languages than I thought he was. Gentlemen, I wish you good evening."

MARQUIS DE LA FAYETTE.

This good old friend of our country is again noticed by the English Manufactories of Paris News." A few days ago, they arrested him as a conspirator; but at the last date were content with merely interrogating him. And TALLEYRAND, whom they lately dismissed from all office, and sent into exile, has been graciously restored to their favour, and now seen to be riding cheek by jowl with the King from Paris to Fontainbleau. For more than a year these fabrications have been repeated tho' daily confuted by facts. We do not believe LA FAYETTE has ever been suspected of conspiracy.—In 1793 his loyalty stood the proof, though subjected to the severest test. He was trodden under foot by Bonaparte; and in every situation has shown himself the conscientious patriot. As for Talleyrand, his talents will insure any office he chooses to exercise. He is too rich and old for the hard work of active office, but he holds the first place under the Crown next to those filled by the Royal Family, and has the four lofty Dukes Duras, Richelieu, d'Aumont and Pierre de Villequire, for his gentlemen ushers; besides being a Privy Counsellor, and Grand Cordon of the new Legion of Honor.

[Bost. Cen.

"When you cry mum, I'll cry budget." It is amusing to observe how the irritable and half-informed spirits, who manage several of the party Gazettes, rail at each other. They seem to have made together some such bargain as master Slender made with "sweet Ann Page;" for when, on the one side, they cry out "Blue-light!" on the other they roar "Bladensburgh!"—This sort of nicknaming passes current for political discussion: the minds of the people become heated; sound principles and honest men are overlooked, and ignorant knaves get into power. What must the European world think of our intelligence, when such is the tenor of our political controversy?

SPECIE PAYMENTS.

The prospect of a general and voluntary resumption of specie payments within a short period is becoming every day more certain. The price of specie in Baltimore is now down to twelve an half per cent, a few weeks ago it was above twenty—in N. York it is down to about three per cent above the par of their Bank Notes; and, as large quantities are expected to arrive from abroad in our several sea-ports, we may hope the time is not distant, when it will be paid as currently as Bank Notes.

We do not, however, believe, that the plan recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury, will tend to hasten the resumption of specie payments; on the contrary, if adopted by the Banks, it may considerably retard it. Every thing like coercion, that may be attempted on this subject will operate injuriously; while the natural tendency of a free and uninterrupted course of trade and exchange, is to produce an equality in the current value of the notes of Banks in which the public have confidence and the specie which they purport to represent.

BUFFALO, AUG. 6, 1816.

NEWS FROM THE WEST!

The Hermaphrodite Brig Union, Jas. Beard, master, left Detroit on the 23d ult. and grounded near the head of Gros Island, about 8 miles below Detroit, her own boat being too small, she obtained one from the U. S. garrison at Gros Island for the purpose of getting her off; which was effected on the morning of the 24th. The wind being ahead she beat down the river nearly abreast of the garrison, to which two men were sent to return the boat—being in sight of Amherstberg, a boat was seen to leave the latter place at the same time ours left the Brig, and to proceed in same direction until our boat came near the garrison, she then put about for the Union, having on board an officer in a midshipman's uniform and six men, who immediately came on deck. The officer enquired for the master of the Brig, and told him he had come to search his vesssel for deserters. Mr. Beard observed his men were all on deck, except those sent ashore in the boat. The officer then ordered his men into the hold and fore-castle to search. Mr. Beard remonstrated against such unwarrantable proceedings and forbid it. The officer then replied, that he was ordered to search her peaceably if he could, if not, to use force, saying, "your government allows it, and why should not you?" At this time there were two pieces of artillery drawn up on the Canada shore, apparently well manned, and not more than one hundred yards from the Union. Mr. Beard told the British officer if he would search the brig, he must take charge of her: which he did by taking the helm and ordering his men to take in sail and bring her to an anchor, which was done. The Brig was then searched, and the officer told Capt. Beard he might resume the command of her.—On Capt. Beard asking by what authority he acted, he replied, that his name was Henry Brooks,—that he acted under a verbal order from his commanding officer.

A suitable notice of the above transaction will be forwarded to the head of the proper department at Washington.

AN ORDINANCE,

Concerning Appropriations, Mayor's Warrants, and the keeping and comptrol of the Accounts of the City Treasury.

SECTION I

****
* Seal. *

BE it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That annual appropriations of particular sums shall be made by the Select and Common Councils, distinctly specifying the amount, object and purpose of each; and that the Mayor of the City in drawing his warrants on the Treasury, shall therein state the particular account to which the same is to be charged, and shall in no instance exceed the amount of the appropriation. And whenever the amount of any appropriation shall be exhausted, no future order shall be drawn upon such account, notice of the amount being exhausted shall be given by the Mayor to the Street Commissioners, who shall notify the same to the Select and Common Councils, and at the same time state the contracts which shall have been made upon the credit of such appropriation, with the situation of the respective objects for which the same is assigned, and what further sum may be necessary. And the Mayor shall at all times have a right to demand and know from the Treasurer, the state of the account of any particular appropriation, and the amount of the balance, if any, remaining in his hands thereupon.

Section II. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the Clerk of the Market shall, from time to time, furnish the Treasurer and Mayor each, with an exact rental of the Stalls of the Markets; and it shall be duty of the Treasurer for the time being, to take care to keep his accounts in such distinct manner, as to shew from what source, and on what account, the money arises which may be paid to him, and on what account or appropriation his payments and disbursements may be made. He shall keep his account in some one of the Banks of Pittsburgh, in his name, and subject to his drafts, as Treasurer of the Corporation, and he shall pay by checks out of the money so deposited, the amount of orders drawn by the Mayor, and shall take receipts for the same, and keep fair and just accounts thereof; shall balance his books at least once in every three months, and shall make out and deliver to the Mayor, and to the Presidents of the Councils, each a true account of all his receipts and payments, shewing the balance. And when removed from office, he shall deliver over to his successor all monies, books, papers and accounts remaining in his hands as Treasurer.

Section III. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be the duty of the Mayor to provide, at the expence of the said City, a bound book of printed warrants on the City Treasurer, leaving the proper blanks for the number, date, amount, name of payee, and the account on which it is drawn, of each warrant; and in which book, so to be provided, there shall be a wide margin, in which it shall be the duty of the Mayor carefully and at all times to enter, in writing, the number, date, amount, and the name of the payee of each and every warrant drawn by him on the City Treasury, so that the same may comptrol and aid in the settlement of the accounts of the City Treasurer, which book the Mayor shall, at all times, when required, produce on the settlement of the accounts of the City Treasurer, or the settlement of any other account when the production of the same may be necessary or useful

Section IV. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be the duty of the City Treasurer to provide, at the expence of the City, a receipt book, wherein he shall enter duplicates of all receipts for money paid into the Treasury, specifying the date, the sum, by whom and on what account the same is made; and it shall be the duty of the person or persons who have made payment into the Treasury, to compare this receipt with the one he or they have obtained, and to countersign said duplicate receipt, when found to be correct. And it shall be the duty of the said City Treasurer, to exhibit said duplicate receipt book of sums paid into the Treasury, to any committee of accounts, or other person or persons duly authorised to settle his accounts, whose duty it shall be to check said receipts, with the credits given to the respective accounts rendered by him, the last of which receipts ending the time of settlement, shall be signed by the members of the committee, or others making the settlement, who have attended at the examination of said accounts. And it shall also be the duty of the City Treasurer to exhibit the said duplicate receipt book, when required, at the settlement or examination of the accounts of any City Collector of taxes, or other officer or person, when the production of the same may be deemed useful or necessary by the persons making the said settlement or examination; and, on such occasions, the said duplicate receipt book shall be compared with the receipts which the party may have obtained from the City Treasurer, on account of monies received by him; and in case any difference shall be found in the amount of any of the said receipts, it shall be the special duty of the persons making the said settlement or examination, to make report thereof forthwith to the Councils.

Section V. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if the said Mayor or City Treasurer shall, through inattention, carelessness or fraud, neglect or refuse to perform the said duties, herein before respectively required of them, he shall forfeit and pay, for the use of thesaid City, the sum of One Hundred Dollars.

DOCTOR CHISHOLM'S
Anti-Bilious Pills,
Of a quality superior to any thing of the kind ever offered as a GENERAL MEDICINE, in this Country.

NOW prepared from a recipe of the celebrated Dr. Chisholm, who, from a long residence in the West-India Islands, has been enabled to favor the world with the most complete history, and most approved methods of curing all the BILIOUS DISEASES of those warm climates.

This extraordinary Medicine, which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuent of Bile, is without example; never producing debility or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child or weakly female:

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excruciating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flaxseed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and DISEASES OF THE LIVER, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case the dose may be increased according to the strength or constituton.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing & great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

The above valuable Medicine is Sold ONLY in Pittsburgh, by

CURE FOR COUGHS, COLDS, &c.
Hamilton's Elixir,
A SOVEREIGN REMEDY for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, Sore Throats, and aproaching Consumptions, and most disordes of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluid to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weahened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and give strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present some of its painful effects.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTON'S ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocaton. Add to these a constant pain in my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advise of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamilton's Elixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it to do much good. A bottle was procured from Mr. Birch's, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

PITTSBURGH
Soap & Candle Manufactory
SECOND, BETWEEN FERRY AND MARKET STREETS.

THE Subscriber having considerably enlarged his Works, is ready to receive orders for supplying SOAP, hard or soft, which he engages to deliver on as good terms as can be procured from any other quarter.

Large speculations for the purpose of sending over the mountains, having drained the necessary supplies of Tallow from the market, obliges him to apologise for his present inability to supply the demand for Candles. He hopes his friends will see the necessity of prompt payment, in order to prevent in future such a procedure, to counteract which is indispensably necessary, as it is a fact beyond doubt that the markets at the most productive seasons are barely sufficient to meet the increasing wants of the inhabitants, in an article so necessary.

NICHOLAS O'CALLAGHAN.
